Additional information

Additional information:	The Kokoshkova Kashta has risen from the ashes like a phoenix to hospitably open its doors for its visitors and guests. The house was built in 1898 and it was the home of one of the mayors of Samokov, d-r Kokoshkov and his family. Later, in the 1900s, the house was destroyed by fire. But it underwent some rebuilding and redecorating in 2004.

The Kokoshkova Kashta keeps its spirit of dignity and hospitality combined with unobtrusive luxury. So we are today: a glamorous, welcoming and unforgettable place. Past, present and future meet there and stay in harmony.

Every guest of the House who enters it, they enter a new world. There the Viennese and the Oriental style meet to tell stories about the Bulgarian town house from the 19th century. The trophies on the walls and the fire at the fireplace talk old sayings and legends.

The delight and contemplation are in the garden, too. There the fountain, the cypress trees and the tables made of common teak tempt you to have a rest with a cup of coffee or a glass of favorite drink.

With its style of Bulgarian National Revival and its European style, the Kokoshkov's house is one of the most recognizable monuments in the town of Samokov. The house is a place of art, as well. It is a gallery full with over 50 works of the greatest masters from the Art Academy of Samokov – Naum Hadjimladenov, Hristo Yontchev – Kriskareca, Slavi Genev, Georgi Belstoiniev..

On the second floor of the house are:

3 double rooms (green room, orange room, white room)

3 apartments (red apartment, blue apartment, pink apartment)

In the room there is: cable and digital TV, internet connection, mini bar.

The restaurant is on the first floor of the Kokoshkov's House - with stylish and refined atmosphere. The cuisine is unique and non-standard mixture of French, British and German meals. The garden can be used at any time of the year thanks to six infraradiators.

The basement in the Kokoshkov's house is a Sport Centre equipped with up-to-date facilities – techno gym, solarium, steam bath, sauna, Jacuzzi, massage room, velgometre, cross simulator, jogging track, sit-ups apparatus, gladiator, weights.
